

Total Corporate Solutions
WorkWell
with AIA

NURTURING EMPLOYEE WELLBEING WITH AIA'S MENTAL HEALTH SOLUTION

Learn More

Edition: Malaysia Singapore

Register here

Subscribe here

THE EDGE
MARKETS
MAKE BETTER DECISIONS

Join more than 2 million Malaysians who chose Principal for investing.
Investment solutions for you: Unit Trust | Private Retirement Scheme | Shariah-compliant

Principal in alliance with CIMB
Learn more at www.principal.com.my

Home Corporate Sections The Edge TV Others 新闻 Frankly Speaking EdgeProp.my

News Search

TRENDING NOW Budget 2023 Najib's 1MDB-Tanore trial Economic Report 2022/2023

12 October 2022, Wednesday

MALAYSIA CORPORATE

Select Language

LYC inks MOU to develop courses in postpartum confinement care

Surin Murugiah / theedgemarkets.com
August 30, 2022 13:35 pm +08

KUALA LUMPUR (Aug 30): LYC Healthcare Bhd has entered into a memorandum of understanding (MOU) with Lincoln University College and Evexia Education Group Sdn Bhd to jointly develop educational courses related to the provision of postpartum or confinement care services.

In a statement to the local bourse on Tuesday (Aug 30), LYC said its unit LYC Mother & Child Centre Sdn Bhd (LYCMC) had inked the MOU.

With LYCMC, the group is one of the largest postpartum confinement operators in Malaysia. Its operations span across four centres in Taman Tun Dr Ismail, Puchong, Bukit Jalil and Johor Bahru, with a total capacity of 193 beds.

Postpartum confinement centres offer mothers and newborn babies with accommodation, specialised meals, post-natal therapy and 24-hour support.

LYC said under the MOU, the parties aim to develop two forms of programmes.

It said these include short-term professional confinement courses and long-term diploma courses, specifically the Diploma in Medical Assistant.

The programme syllabus will be jointly developed by LYCMC and Lincoln University College, with the aim of providing students a holistic education programme that will enable them to establish a career in the postpartum or confinement industry or its related businesses.

Meanwhile, Evexia, which is involved in training, project management and consultancy, will be appointed as the project manager to coordinate the development of the courses.

LYC managing director cum group chief executive officer David Sui Diong Hoe said the collaboration is driven by a common goal of engaging the young, and encouraging them to learn new skills within the growing and attractive industry.

"In addition, the courses are open to anyone who wish to upskill themselves.

"We hope to fill the existing labour gap by creating a pool of ready talent in the confinement care industry."

Meanwhile, Lincoln University College founder and president/chairman Professor Dr Amiya Bhaumik said private-sector participation is essential to increase the reach and effectiveness of education.

"Beyond this collaboration, we are keen to explore more opportunities across other healthcare businesses within LYC in the near future," said Bhaumik.

LYC said a definitive agreement is expected to be finalised by Dec 31.

At the midday break on Tuesday, LYC had fallen 5.56% or one sen to 17 sen, with 21,000 shares traded.

DISCOVER POST-PANDEMIC GROWTH OPPORTUNITIES AMID THE NEW NORMAL

MOST READ MOST WATCHED

- 1 Sulu Sultan's heirs strike again
- 2 Intel plans to cut thousands of jobs in face of PC slowdown
- 3 Chipmaker rout engulfs TSMC, Samsung with US$240 bil wiped out
- 4 HCK Capital being asked to help save Empire Remix 1 in Subang Jaya's USJ1
- 5 Caely, WCE, Privasia, MHB, Pintaras Jaya, Southern Cable, DRB-Hicom, Ivory Properties, CN Asia, Meta Bright, Sand Nisko and Silver Ridge

Welcome back, Battersea Power Station

Enhancing the country's recovery to safeguard Keluarga Malaysia

BROWSE OUR COLLECTION

EdgeProp.my

EdgeProp

Selangor